KEY TRAPS:

The Key Trap is a simple way to help solve key control problems. A master or operating key can be locked in the key trap. A check out key with a serial number that will identify the user releases the master key. Releasing the master key with a turn of the check out key will lock the check out key in the trap until the master key is returned. Returning the master key will unlock the check out key and secure the master key.

The Key Trap is available in one, two, three and four block gangs. The block is locked to the mounting base with an "Ace Type" cylinder.

The Key Trap will accommodate 1-1/8" or longer mortise cylinders, and is machined from a solid block of aluminum and anodized in a gray finish.

- 1 GANG: A single key trap for use with standard type mortise cylinders.
- 2 GANGS: Two single key traps mounted on a common base. Both key traps work independently of each other.
- 3 GANGS: Three single key traps mounted on a common base. All three work independently of each other.
- 4 GANGS: Four single key traps mounted on a common base. All four work independently of each other.
